Dear Valued Stepping Stone School Families:

Out of an abundance of caution, Stepping Stone School will now use the temperature of 99.7 degrees as our upper limit when determining if a teacher or student will be sent home. It will no longer be 100.4 degrees. This will begin as of Wednesday, March 18th.

The revising of the temperature is in keeping with what the local medical centers are using as their upper level temperature for staff to be sent home.

As new information or procedures arise, we will be sure to notify you as soon as possible.

We know you have a choice in who provides your precious children with their care and education and thank you for choosing Stepping Stone School. We work daily to maintain your trust and will continue to do all possible to keep our children and employees healthy and safe.

Sincerely,

Rhonda Paver, M.A.

Owner and Executive Director
